Bethel native's hunting websites and blog drawing tens of thousands of hits a day

By ALISON ALOISIO

A website Tom Remington started three years ago to help plug his book has expanded to become a nationwide hunting and fishing news source.

Mainehuntingtoday.com draws about 4,000 visitors a day, said Remington, a Bethel native and longtime resident who now lives in Florida.

The site has also drawn enough attention to prompt

Maine's gubernatorial candidates to participate last month in online interviews by Remington.

Several years ago he wrote a book entitled, "The Legend of Grey Ghost and Other Tales from the Maine Woods." In the fall of 2003, he and his son, Steven, started the website so they could become better known, and thus promote the book.

"We wanted it to be a place where hunters could go and read articles written by budding writers and professionals as well, find tips, recipes, get educated and chat with each other," said Remington. "Little did we know what was ahead."

Today the site features news, events and politics affecting hunting, fishing, and other outdoor activities in North America. It also includes related advertisements.

The site is now part of a related network of sites established by the Remingtons. The sites include U.S. Hunting Today and 34 state sites, by individual state name.

"We opted for individual domain names for each site," he said. "It's considerably more

Online outdoor contributor from Greenwood puts his own adventures down in a book

By ALISON ALOISIO

Sayward Lamb, 79, of Greenwood is one of the varied writers whose stories are posted on the Maine Hunting Today website.

After more than 65 years of hunting and fishing, Lamb decided in 1999 that it might be good to write down some of his experiences.

"I came to the conclusion that if I didn't write them before I died, they'd be lost forever," he said.

He began writing at first to pass the stories along to his children and grandchildren. But as he progressed, he said, "I talked with friends who said, 'Why don't you write a book?'"

So Lamb focused his efforts toward that goal, compiling "Deer Tails and Other Tales," a 43-story, 256-page book that will be published in mid-October.

The anecdotes range from an account of his son, Jim, shooting his first deer to fishing trips in northern Maine to his favorite, entitled "Blaze Orange Hat."

Deceit in the woods

The blaze orange hat belonged to a hunter from away, whom Lamb managed to steer away from his hunting territory with an unusual ruse.

Telstar teacher/astronomer offers the public his own stargazing guides to the galaxy

By ALISON ALOISIO

A star party is coming to Bethel Oct. 11.

It's not another movie company in town for a shoot. Instead, Telstar High School's new physics teacher—who holds a Ph.D. in astronomy—is inviting the public to a star-gazing gathering on the school's athletic field.

"I've always been a fan of doing these sorts of things—showing people all the great things you can see through a telescope," said Nelson. "I used to do that mostly for students at college and grad school, and before that, since about the age of 12, I'd been doing it solo in my backyard."

Nelson, a native of Raymond, has spent the past 19 years in California. He earned his doctorate in astronomy at UCLA, and then worked on projects at the California Institute of Technology.

Nelson said his wife, a California native, fell in love with Maine and, after interviewing this summer for the Telstar job, he packed up his family and moved back.

It's his first time teaching. "I reformed the AP physics class into an astronomy class, and planned some outdoor labs," he said. "I also wanted to have the opportunity for anyone to come and have a look through the telescope, so I planned right from the start to do public outreach periodically and have star parties."

Next week's party will include, in Nelson's words: star clusters (the great globular

Transfer station work, skateboard park study will go to Bethel voters

By MICHAEL DANIELS

Bethel voters will be asked Oct. 16 if they are willing to spend up to $17,050 for Bethel's share of a $31,000 upgrade of the Tri-town Transfer Station, and another $5,000 to explore options for expanding the town's skateboard park.

The Bethel Board of Selectmen and Budget Committee voted unanimously Monday evening to put the two "off-cycle" expenditures to voters at a special Town Meeting, rather than hold them until next year's annual Town Meeting in June.

'Long overdue'

During two of their last three annual budget-building cycles, the selectmen and Budget Committee have taken up proposals for upgrading the transfer station.

Throughout those discussions there was consensus that upgrades were needed — to both lower the rising cost of operating the facility and to improve safety.

But the cost of the earlier proposals — over $100,000 in both cases — led to them being cut long before town voters had their own say.

The proposal that will go to voters on Oct. 16 is a much scaled-down version of the earlier plans.

It calls for constructing a concrete retaining wall, with safety railings, that is 12 inches thick, 9 feet high and 184 feet in total length.

Roll-off containers already being used onsite to receive and store various categories of solid waste materials — such as construction debris, metals and shingles — would be placed adjacent to the wall, and transfer station users could then throw their refuse directly into the appropriate container.

G'wood holding the check on Howe Hill Rd. project

By MICHAEL DANIELS

An engineering inspection of the recent Howe Hill Road rebuilding project has found that in several places the road is not as wide as called for in the contract, and the base and subbase are not as thick as called for.

The work, performed by D.A. Wilson & Co., was intended to prepare 3,700 feet of the road for paving next year.

Wilson bid $91,770 on the project, which was completed late last month.

Before turning over any money, however, town officials want to meet with Wilson to discuss their concerns with the quality of the work.

"I'm still holding the check," Greenwood Town Manager Kim Sparks told selectmen Tuesday evening. "We haven't received what the contract called for."

According to Sparks: "The engineer said 'It looks like they owe us a lot more material.'"

The engineering inspection included digging ten test pit holes along the rebuilt section of the road.

In six of the test pit locations the road was less than the 28 feet wide called for in the contract. In one case it was only 22 feet wide.

The contract also called for the road to have a base thickness of six inches and a subbase of 12 inches.

But none of the ten test holes turned up a base of six inches. The reading ranged from less than one inch to five-and-one-half inches.

KIM SPARKS
Town Manager

The subbase was less than specified at six of the ten locations, and in one case no subbase was found.

Sparks said she has contacted Wilson to set up a meeting on the matter.

Troy Jordan of D.A. Wilson said Wednesday that the errata depth readings were due to bumps in the underlying roadbed, and that the company would do whatever the town and engineer felt appropriate to deal with the situation.

Funds for kids of slaying victims continue to grow

By ALISON ALOISIO

The funds set up to benefit the children of two of the women murdered in Newry Labor Day weekend are doing well, thanks to individual donations and a very successful fundraising event.

For privacy reasons, bank officials in charge of the funds for the children of Cindy Beatson and Selby Bullard cannot disclose the amount of money contributed.

"We continue to receive donations on a daily basis and the families appreciate any and all donations that they have been receiving," said Jane Ryerson of the Norway Savings Bank, which holds the "Sugarbeat" Fund. "Many real estate offices from throughout the state have made contributions."

Both women were realtors with Apple Tree Realty of Bethel.

The Bullard Family Fund, "is doing excellent. It's heartwarming," said Lorena Tyler of Northeast Bank.

Two weeks ago a fundraiser at the Funky Red Barn in Bethel raised just over $4,000, to be split between the funds, according to Barry Hallett, the business' owner.

Musician Doug Alford and his band, "Unknown Legends," donated their earnings, as did a disc jockey and bartender, Hallett said.

Gift certificates were also raffled off, bringing in about $450, and the admission charge for the event was donated.

The addresses for donations to the funds are as follows: Sugarbeat Memorial Fund, c/o Norway Savings Bank, P.O. Box 916, Bethel 04217; and Bullard Family Fund, c/o Northeast Bank, P.O. Box 850, Bethel 04217.

Today (Thursday) at 5:30 p.m. a memorial apple tree will be planted at Apple Tree Realty commemorating the women's lives.

BRICK PROGRAM SUSPENDED

To the Editor:

A decision has been made to suspend the Bethel commemorative brick program at this time. In the late 1990s, a dedicated group of folks led an effort which culminated in the 2001 placement of individualized bricks at the entrance to the Cole Block. The enormous success of this project inspired a subsequent vision to extend bricks along the sidewalk adjacent to the building.

However, the project languished under my supervision and went nowhere. I am sorry. The mundane business of municipal administration, with more pressing issues, has taken priority the past five years.

Refunds and letters of explanation will be sent to the 25 purchasers who ordered bricks. If another group forms to extend commemorative bricks and assumes the tasks of research, planning, marketing, and implementation, this office will fully support the effort.

VETS' MONUMENT CELEBRATION

To the Editor:

At its March Town Meeting the citizens of West Paris voted to establish an account to hold privately raised monies to establish a new veterans' monument. The present monument has no more room for names. Individuals and local businesses donated to the cause. Fundraisers were held with people donating time, money, food and prizes. The current fundraiser is a raffle offering three prizes: $100, $50 and $25. The drawing will be held Nov. 1. To purchase tickets or to help sell, contact Sylvia, 674-2114.

With the monument ordered, the American Legion has donated funds to improve the park's grounds. We appreciate the donated gravel from Kenny Poland, the loam from Hadley's Excavations, and Ron Olson's time and labor. We understand that A&W Paving will hot top the walkway.

A celebration is planned to dedicate the monument. On Veterans' Day, Nov. 11 at 10 a.m., a parade will originate at the Agnes Gray School on Main Street and proceed to the town square where the ceremony will be held. For more information, call me at 674-2114.

To the Editor:

The Bethel Conservation Commission thanks all the amateur photographers who participated in our first annual "Local Nature" photo contest. Professional photographers Carol Savage, Dirk McKnight, and Bob McCartney gave generously of their time and expertise to judge the entries and we are particularly grateful for their help in making our first endeavor a success. Thanks also to the Bethel Historical Society for providing space for the photographs to be displayed, and to Randy Bennett for helping with all sorts of details.

It is the commission's hope to make this an annual event, so keep your cameras handy. We will begin accepting entries in mid-August of 2007 and winners will be announced at the 2007 Harvest Fest. Any amateur photographer may enter but photos must be taken within the town boundaries of Bethel. Photos may be taken throughout the year.

SAWIN MILLETT

To the Editor:

I am writing to enlist support for incumbent Sawin Millett for the Maine House of Representatives District 95, which includes Greenwood, Norway, Waterford and West Paris.

I am an independent voter and appreciate the manner in which Rep. Millett represents all of his constituents, regardless of political affiliation. About a year ago I contacted Rep. Millett regarding a personal problem involving a state agency. After carefully considering my request and any effects it could have on his constituents, Rep. Millett went to work on my problem. His efforts included the introduction of a bill that he successfully took through all the stages to become law.

I made many trips to Augusta during the time Rep. Millett's bill went through all the various stages to become law. I never knew Rep. Millett prior to requesting his help and was greatly impressed with his work ethic. He really should wear roller skates when he's up in Augusta representing all the people in his district. He spends his time racing between committee meetings, testifying here, serving there, and testifying way over there. He is so busy that he finds it difficult to find time for lunch.

Rep. Millett, I discovered, is very well liked and respected by a large number of Representatives and Senators, regardless of political affiliation, as well as many state employees involved in the nuts and bolts of state government. He has many valuable contacts with whom he is better able to represent the citizens of his district.

In conclusion I wish to emphasize just how important Rep. Sawin Millett is to the citizens in District 95. After having personally witnessed, on numerous occasions, how hard he works and how knowledgeable he is about government, I cannot imagine anyone being as well suited as incumbent Rep. Sawin Millett to represent the citizens of Maine, especially Greenwood, Norway, Waterford and West Paris in the Maine House of Representatives. I urge the voters in those towns to re-elect Rep. Millett as their true representative in the November elections.

LEN GREANEY

To the Editor:

Maine has the highest tax burden in the nation. Our young are leaving this state at warp speed upon graduation. We are considered a wonderful vacation destination, but not to live or work in. Businesses stay away because of the high taxes and red tape regulations. Many of Maine's representatives in office have forgotten why they are there and who put them there. Healthcare costs, tax reform, economic development, education, employment opportunities, immigration policies and public safety issues remain an unresolved debate, with no concrete and/or beneficial outcome as yet. Our representatives are busy blaming the other party or trying to band-aid these issues for re-election. We were promised tax decreases, yet it remains the same. There are very few representatives in office that have the heart, integrity, and vision of the way Maine should be. We need "doers" who know how to execute a plan to make Maine functional, welcoming, and less burdening on our wallets.

Let us not vote for "party politicians" this time around as we all know that has not worked in the past. We need to focus on the person and their abilities, not more rhetoric. We need positive changes.

Leonard Greaney is running for State Senate District 14. I have known this man for over 30 years. He is exactly who he says he is and whom we need for a qualified legislator. He feels strongly about all these same issues. He not only has the capabilities, business sense, and vision; he is an honest man who has integrity and heart. It is normal for him to give 100 percent to any given project. Len does not walk away from a challenge and that is what we desperately need; to solve problems no matter what the workload entails. He is not afraid of hard work, and he creates positive energy no matter whom or what he is dealing with. Len works tirelessly until a job is done and done right.

His focus is on "Maine, the way life should be," and although you may not know him yet, you definitely will. I would be elated to know he is representing our district for State Senate.

TIM CARTER

To the Editor:

I was pleased to learn that Tim Carter of Bethel is running for the Maine State Legislative position representing District 91. I served with Tim Carter in the United States Department of Agriculture (USDA) during President Clinton's Administration during the '90s.

There was no one in the USDA more dedicated to helping rural residents than Tim. He became known by the bureaucrats at the Department as the "Rural Advocate," or as some affectionately called him, "the bulldog."

Bureaucrats are for the most part decent people, but unfortunately many of these folks had no idea what it is like to live and work in small rural communities, let alone work the family farm. Each time an issue adversely affecting rural citizens was promoted within USDA, Tim fought promoting the issue.

Occasionally Tim found himself in a little hot water, but it was always for the right reason, he fought like hell with decision makers for what was right, not only for farmers but for rural citizens, too.

I remember vividly one issue that Tim Carter got deeply involved with. When the city of Lewiston was attempting to gain designation as a rural "Enterprise Community" Tim was at the door of the Rural Development's Office of Community Development virtually every day of that designation, and I believe Tim had a tremendous influence on Department officials in recognizing how important this designation was to the city of Lewiston, as well as the surrounding area. Maine cannot go wrong sending Tim Carter to the state Legislature.

I know he will fight to assure all communities in District 91 will get the attention they need and deserve.

Stories

By the account, Lamb and his two sons had set off hunting in Perkins Valley in Woodstock. They separated, and after about an hour the boys shot a small deer. They met up with their father, and began describing the details of their successful hunt.

That was when Lamb spotted a stranger in an orange hat approaching them. He did not want the man to know they had just shot a deer, for fear he would try to move in on "their" hunting ground.

So they quickly dropped the animal into a small depression in the ground and covered it with leaves. They then stood together in front of it.

The hunter approached and started a conversation.

"I happened to glance toward the deer, and noticed the white hair around the tail was exposed, and very noticeable," wrote Lamb. "I was frantically trying to think of a way to get rid of the man, when a real bright idea popped into my head."

"I promptly announced, 'I have to take a _____.' Then I proceeded to take off my hunting jacket and threw it over the rear end of the deer, covering up that very noticeable white spot.

"With greatly exaggerated movements, I pulled my heavy red suspenders off from my shoulders. I took a step towards the stranger, turning around as I did so, and immediately dropped my britches," — right over the man's feet.

Seeing Lamb's intent, the hunter hastened to leave.

Lamb wonders how many

SAYWARD LAMB with a trout he caught in northern Maine.

people the hunter told about the old man "who would have messed on his boots if he had not moved out of the way."

A fish story Lamb is equally happy to relate his stories orally.

He described a fishing experience in northern Maine.

Fishing from a boat with his friend, Milt Inman, Lamb had successfully hooked a large brook trout and had begun to reel the fish in.

Suddenly, he said, there was a very strong tug on the line, much stronger than he would have expected from the fish. Inman told him a ring in the water near where the fish was hooked looked like it might have been made by a diving loon.

Sure enough, as Lamb fought for the fish, Inman caught a glimpse of the bird beneath the water, hanging on to the trout with its beak.

"We had a tussle for several minutes," said Lamb. "He'd lose his grip, then grab it again."

Finally, the bird let go another time and Lamb pulled hard on the line.

"The fish flew out of the water and landed in Milt's lap," he said. "The loon came up out of the water and looked over at us as if to say, 'Where the hell is the fish?'"

Lamb hopes to have copies of his book available for people who have asked him to sign it at the upcoming celebration of the West Paris Library's 80th anniversary on Oct. 15.

In any case, he said, it will be available around that date online at iUniverse.com. or by calling him at (813) 791-2858.

Meeting

Currently, transfer users simply dump their waste on the ground, and it is then picked up by a front-end loader and dumped loosely in the containers.

The proposed new arrangement — which is similar to that currently used at the Greenstock Transfer Station — leads to tighter filling of each container.

The town pays by the container for waste hauled from the transfer station, and since tighter filling means more trash goes out with each container, there would be fewer loads going out, said Town Manager Scott Cole.

"The objective is to get a heavier load being transported out," Cole said. "Right now the town is paying $185 per pull. Our average dump is probably three to four tons of waste. We feel we can probably double the weight for construction debris going out of the transfer station — probably get eight, nine tons per load, so we'll cut our hauling costs in half."

Cole estimated that because of those savings, Bethel's $17,050 investment would pay for itself in three to four years, perhaps less.

Selectman Dennis Doyon said the investment was worthwhile on safety considerations alone.

"I'd vote for it on safety alone. Somebody is eventually going to get hurt out there — by something dropping from a bucket, or a bucket backing into a car — whatever, Doyon said. "I think it's long overdue."

Officials in Newry and Haver also believe the upgrade is long overdue.

The two towns share with Bethel the cost of operating the transfer station, and both have long since put aside money for their share ($14,000) of the upgrade.

"And they're becoming increasingly vocal about it," Cole said, "because everybody knows it's not working the way it ought to work out there."

Skateboard park The article regarding the skateboard park, Cole said, is in part the result of "a minor but steady stream of complaints" from both skateboard-ers and pedestrians on the adjacent recreational pathway.

Skateboarders say the park is too small, and pathway users occasionally complain about interactions with skateboarders who have spilled over onto the pathway.

"That small park wasn't well thought out when it was put in," Cole said. "The thinking is either it's got to be relocated or expanded there — if that's at all possible with the permitting."

Several of those who spoke at Monday's meeting praised the overall behavior of the youngsters who use the park.

"The kids have been super," said Police Chief Alan Carr.

Last summer the police had to speak to the users a couple of times about skateboard park "elements" being moved onto the pathway, Carr said, and the skateboarders cooperated fully.

"We said: 'Police your own area. We're not here to harass you.' And they did a fantastic job," the chief said.

The $5,000 on the warrant would fund a study, with any leftover funds to go to the relocation or expansion work.

Two don't make the cut

The two boards on Monday decided not to ask voters to consider two additional expenditures: $4,000 to replace the 80 American flags that are displayed around town on certain holidays, and $5,000 for a feasibility study of using the Bethel Station sedimentation pond as an ice-skating rink.

There was consensus the flag expenditure could be held until next year's annual Town Meeting.

And as for the ice rink, such a project appears unlikely to move forward until more public support is evident.

The former ice rink on the town common was discontinued when volunteers could no longer be found to maintain it.

And — as both Doyon and fellow selectman Jack Cross noted — a new rink would require at least as much volunteer effort.

"If you can't find the volunteers to keep it up on the town common," Doyon said, "how are you going to find them to keep it up in a drainage ditch?"

Remington

money, but we feel in the long run it will pay off."

Remington said his business is seeing a profit.

Postings on each state site include topics tailored to that state, as well as information common to many sites.

The websites also print stories by a variety of writers. Examples include Keith "Catfish" Sutton, who writes for ESPN Outdoors; Denny Vasquez, a member of the Texas Outdoor Writers Association; and A. Sayward Lamb of Greenwood (sidebar).

An associated blog, the Black Bear Blog, averages 10,000 daily visitors, Remington said.

Recent postings there address such topics as gun rights, the breeding implications from the escape of elk from a ranch in Idaho, the Baxter State Park land swap, and the possible effects on wildlife of a proposed wall along the U.S.-Mexican border.

Candidates' views

Last month Remington was able to get online interviews with three of Maine's four gubernatorial candidates — Gov. John Baldacci (D), Republican Chandler Woodcock and independent candidate Barbara Merrill.

"I asked them each six questions on topics about hunting, fishing and the outdoors, including gun rights issues," Remington said.

The candidates responded in writing, and their opinions are posted on the Maine Hunting Today site.

Remington also includes his own take on the candidates' responses and on the issues themselves — and he doesn't mince words.

For example, on the question of whether to allow Sunday hunting, he wrote:

"Maine is one of the safest places anywhere in the world to go and hunt. Hunting overall is one of the safest activities going. I am sick and tired of listening to the anti-hunting and animal rights groups who use the biased media in promoting their lies and scare tactics convincing the uneducated about the dangers of hunting."

"People take their children to school in automobiles. The chances of them dying in a car accident far exceed being shot by an 'errant' bullet."

"By the way, what is an 'errant' bullet? Is that anything like a road-raged idiot on the highway or how about the 'soccer mom' engrossed in a cell phone conversation while transporting six neighborhood kids to practice?"

Between commenting on the political issues and keeping fresh posts on the websites, Remington is finding his growing online business all-consuming.

"I work most days, seven days a week, 12 to 15 hours a day, just to keep up," he said.

Bethel

by Virginia Keniston
Marlene Engdahl hosted the Cross Country Quilters for lunch on Thursday, the 28th, at her home, followed by the Show and Tell of Mystery Quilts at the Methodist Church.

The Cross Country Quilters traveled to Colebrook, N.H., on Wednesday, the 27th, to attend the fall Quilters' Supper sponsored by the Shady Ladies Quilters at the Methodist Church. Those attending were Ginger Kelly, Kathy Thrall, Pat McCartney, Marlene Engdahl, Ginny Keniston, and Dawn Giroux.

Bob and Ginny Keniston are at Fryeburg Fair this week covering their booth of Bob's woodturnings located in the Forestry building. Be sure to look them up if you are at the Fair. Daughter Martha Bangs will be with them for the first of the week, and son Peter Keniston will be there from Wednesday on.

Rachel and Ted McKnight arrived Friday night at the Keniston home to attend Gould Alumni activities. It is Rachel's reunion year.

The birthday ladies, G.A. Classes 1938, 1939, and 1940 met for a luncheon gathering at Liam's on Tuesday, the 26th. Present were Virginia Hutchins, Kaye McMillin, Arlene B. Brown, Mary Eichel, Virginia Keniston and Mary Keniston, all of Bethel, and Christie Knight of Rumford. Elizabeth Bane, Ada Cummings, and Josie Monahan were unable to attend. We were celebrating Kaye and Libby's birthdays.

Marjorie Morton Greer and husband, John, from Cascade, Mont., are visiting Helen Morton for several days.

Arlene Lowell underwent hip surgery on Monday, Sept. 25, at Stephens Memorial Hospital in Norway and returned home on Friday, the 29th. She is recovering very well, and is receiving therapy at home, twice a week for a few weeks.

News from Mary Keniston:
Murray Thurston is an observation patient, since Saturday, at the Rumford Community Hospital.

I enjoyed the G.A. Alumni

Weekend — such a beautiful day on Saturday, and clearing on Friday night for the banquet. I met Polly Davis and Bob and Mary Lou Berry and Hi Friday night at Gould's Ordway Hall for a fun evening of visiting and meeting many former Bethel residents returning for reunion gatherings and seeing former friends.

On Saturday, Arlene Brown and I attended the Annual Meeting in the morning and luncheon at the Ordway Hall at noon. We found friends to sit with, Kay McMillin and her sister, Josie Monahan, and Libby Bane. The enjoyment of the two days was meeting the returning reunion classes, who formerly lived in Bethel. I hope you can remember these "young" people, and can understand my enjoyment in having them greet me. Here are some: Merle White, Richard Ramage and wife Gail, Peter Stowell, Claire Berry Cantrell and husband, Roger Dock, Arthur Fred Lincoln and wife, Louise Lincoln Poisson and husband, Loretta Freeman Dunleavy and husband, Jerry Freeman, Dixie Lea Thayer and husband, David Lombard, and Catherine Carver Robie. Many of these I have named were returning for the Class of 1961, for their 45th reunion. They are classmates of my two children, Donald Rice and Donna Rice-Howe. This class had a reunion gathering for a catered dinner at the Park-Mason House on Saturday evening. It was such an enjoyable event and such a great turnout. I was not there, but the "kids" reported their fun in meeting old classmates. I would say it was a great day for many returning alumni.

The Gould Academy Class of 1971 saw a super turnout of classmates and spouses to celebrate their 35th reunion. The Alumni Association presented an award to Wayne Davis of Green River, Wyo., for his enthusiasm and work in organizing such a successful turnout. On Saturday evening Bart and Jeannine Bailey of Amesbury, Mass., entertained the group at their winter home at Sunday River. Enjoying the many activities with the '71ers were returning members of the classes of '69, '70, '72 and '73.

Middle Intervale News
By Pat Carter
There are many interesting names for our roads and streets in this part of Maine.

I've been considering Howling Hole Road off Swan Hill. One of the "old people" told me it got that name because of a certain arrangement of rocks. When the wind blew it would blow around the rocks making a howling sound. I gather it was rather loud. I've been listening expecting to hear the "howling." Maybe later on in the fall I'll hear something interesting.

The donations to the Middle Intervale Cemetery Association have been slowly but steadily arriving in my mailbox. Tim Carter recently sent a large donation from the estate of his father, T. Richard Carter. We're very grateful for all the help we receive. If you'd like to contribute and haven't yet, the address is Middle Intervale Cemetery Association, 825 Intervale Road, Bethel, ME 04217.

Bethel was a busy place this past weekend what with Gould's Alumni Weekend and the Jeep Jamboree. It seems that every weekend there are things to do in Bethel. Our chamber does a great job for us. Our hats are off to you. Some events are not planned by the Bethel Chamber but probably they have a finger in the pie for most of the other happenings.

I enjoyed a wonderful weekend reconnecting with my classmates and alumni at the Gould Alumni Weekend. The opportunities available to the students at Gould are amazing. I found myself envying "their world." My world was a bare bones affair. We had a good education; however, traveling the world wasn't part of it. We didn't stray from the campus except for the boys who traveled to games. But then, our world wasn't global. I think our world was a safer world. No one was concerned over whether someone would storm the campus and shoot us. It seems that everything is a tradeoff.

Rodney Harrington and Alberta Merrill entertained Lawrence and Christine Bennett and Henry and Nancy Bourgon this past weekend.

Bill Lord from Sun City West, Ariz., came East to visit his family, attend Gould Academy Alumni Weekend and do some fly fishing. Also in town for alumni weekend were Lee and Judy Carroll from Gorham, N.H., and George and Mary Stowell from Portland.

THE GUARD CHANGES—Newry Postmaster Crystal Lake (right) retired last week after 17 years in the Postal Service. Lake, of Greenwood, served first in that town's Post Office, then served 12 years in Newry, three at the old Bear River office and nine at the current post office location on the Sunday River Road. She now plans to travel with her already-retired husband, Al, and also participate in Christian retreats. Taking over as officer-in-charge in Newry is Leslie Aron of Upton, who has worked with Lake at both the Bear River and Sunday River offices. "She knows the office well," said Lake.

Mayville News
By Don Bennett

This was not a hair-raising news week in Mayville. For example, by the dawn's early light three days had temperatures in the 30s, two days in the 40s and two days in the 50s. The steady traffic of chip hauling trucks was even down noticeably.

Potato picking was going on next to the Irving Station and the Harrington's were haying the field by the fairgrounds barn.

Gas has gotten down to $2.429 at Irving (Sunday) and heating oil is $2.199 for cash purchases at Brooks Bros.

It seemed like more than two-thirds of the campground parking sites were filled with motor homes and RVs at Bethel Outdoor Adventure. Work continues at the White's where the inn, barn and art studio are getting new roofing plus the inn's front porch is still going through extensive rehab of its structural parts.

On Saturday, BBQ Bob's barbecue crowd was enjoying meals under the pines and nice fresh Maine air.

For humor this week, I went with Don Brooks and Roger Conant to look for historical records of the Riverside Cemetery that might be stored in file cabinets inside the vault. Who knows where old-time gems might pop up? No historical gems were found but Roger discovered plenty of useful stationary, envelopes and blank forms that may extend his next re-order date for office paper well into 2010.

In checking recent Planning Board minutes, nothing new from Mayville was recorded, although Swan's Corner is getting attention. Main-Land Development is handling a proposal for a new real estate office at the corner to be known as the Great Brook Preserve Realty Office. If this pace of development at Swan's Corner keeps up, there will be as much going on there next year as there was 110 years ago.

Last Wednesday an unusual airplane sound caught my ear. It was one of those super-duper luxury jobs circling to land at Bethel. You could hear the almost jet sound of a turboprop engine and the plane looked like one of those sleek, stretched flying limos that visited during the October fly-in about two years ago. It was a beautiful, unusual sight and sound, although the plane had departed or had hidden in a hangar by the time I got to the airport later in the day. No one had signed the guest register in the pilots' and passengers' lounge. But, the incident made me recall air sights and sounds of years ago.

During the World War II years, the sound of high-powered aircraft engines made everyone look up. One time, two P-40s came zooming into Bethel's air space from the direction of Mt. Abram. My cousins and I scrambled up a woodpile onto the hen house roof to get a better look. The planes buzzed right over us and went out of sight. Oldest cousin, Dave Bennett, exclaimed, "It must be Sid Dyke!" Of course none of us had the foggiest idea where Sid Dyke was in 1944.

In the very early 1950s, B-36 "Peacemaker" ten engine bombers started flying over in eight hour intervals — on their way to Loring AFB. These planes were so high that they were barely visible on a clear day but their six-propeller pusher engines made a unique, rhythmically slow throbbing rumble that made me not just hear but feel the sound. When only one plane

The Way I See It

by Sharon Bouchard

Sharon Bouchard's column is published by special arrangement with the Advertising Department

I guess the presence of all those yellow school buses I get stuck behind every day and the colder temperatures is a sure indicator that summer is over.

I have a love/hate relationship with October. What I love about it is the frequency of beautiful, comfortable days, the absence of stinging bugs, not hearing the drone of the air conditioner at night and being able to bake something in my oven without raising the temperature in my kitchen to that of Death Valley in July.

What I hate about October is that it marks the end of summer, which I love. I hate having to turn the heat on, further enriching the oil industry who boasts record breaking profits quarter after quarter. I hate having to think about winterizing my house.

I also hate acknowledging that all the outside summer projects I had planned to do will go undone for yet another year. And I really hate that the yard sale season is rapidly coming to a close. There are now more signs on telephone poles for yard sales gone by than for ones that are really being held and I really hate that. I can't tell you how many signs I have followed and found no yard sale in sight.

I'm also not very fond of the clothing limbo that October puts us in. The morning starts out cold and requires warmer dress. By afternoon you can start shedding layers, but have to put them back on by early evening (which gets dark way too soon).

I'm digging out my heavier sweaters and sweatshirts from storage, but it's too early to put away the short-sleeve blouses and tank tops.

I have a love/hate relationship with October.

More than anything I hate to give up on summer. My vacations are over and I really hate that, but even when working there is a more care-free feeling during the summer.

There is always a sense of anticipation of something good to come in the summer; cookouts, evening trips for ice cream, concerts in the park. Now my sense of anticipation is of oil bills, bulky clothing and frost wiping out what is left of my garden.

Before I know it my sense of anticipation will be of even higher oil bills, shoveling snow and scraping windshields first thing in the morning. That's something else I really hate.

I do love the autumn colors as the maples and oaks turn to red, orange and yellow. I hate that it has already started to happen. Every morning on my way to work I watch one particular maple tree to see how much change has taken place from the day before.

About a third of this tree is now wearing its autumn dress. Each day it slips down a little lower and by the time it is completely covered in burnt amber, it will immediately start dropping its leaves. There's nothing I hate more than naked trees.

I love the county fairs that take place in October. You just can't beat the atmosphere that exists at the fairs. All those bright lights from the rides and games, the exhibition halls with all the neat vegetables and crafts and the livestock. I love the comingling of aromas like fried dough and manure.

I love the abundant harvest that October offers. The corn, tomatoes, squash and apples. I hate the way those wonderful fresh vegetables will be gone way too soon and we'll be left with buying cardboard tomatoes and fodder corn in the supermarket.

There are a lot of things that I really don't like about this time of the year and there are a lot of things that you just can't enjoy any other time. For me it truly is a love/hate relationship and the way I see it, as much as I love the summer, I definitely would hate not being able to experience October.

flew over at night, it would almost always wake me up. Shortly after that the Maine Air National Guard must have received some F-80 jets that allowed the Androscoggin valley to get buzzed by pure jet for the first time. These planes were silvery aluminum and were gone from view before you heard them. Then came the F-100s — again, probably air guard planes. These sounds that resembled humming, whistling arrows were bringing a taste of the outside world to Bethel.

Peering out the window it is not difficult to know that October has arrived. Bright blue skies are usually followed by dark, misty days. The leaves are in full color this week. A rainy weekend did not keep the "leaf peepers" at home. Sometimes it seems that the leaves are brighter with a shiny wet coating. Very soon a big wind will arrive and leave the trees naked for winter. It makes you glad that you're not a tree doesn't it!

Bird and duck hunting was in full swing over the weekend as evidenced by boom-booms from the water and the forests. The moose season is open. The poor dumb beasts are an easy target.

Lucille and Earl Largesse spent most of the weekend putting the finishing touches on the Ladies Aid Building, replacing and painting trim. Skirting was applied and other tasks were done. They are great workers and the Ladies Aid thanks them.

Several people are hitting the "Fair" circuit. Diane Williamson took in the Common Ground Fair and was very impressed. Next year she plans to "R.V." it and work at the fair for a week. Other folks attended the Fryeburg Fair and lost their money at the races.

The Ladies Aid met last Tuesday. Children's baskets were completed. They are all ready to be filled at Christmas time.

There is a visiting coyote roaming the neighborhood. The sneaky critter shows up unexpectedly. Ginny Williamson saw one lurking in her deer yard.

Roger Lavallee has done a wonderful job keeping the cemetery in very good shape all summer. As he has said before, "No one bothers me up there."

We haven't seen very many songbirds lately. While the loggers were cutting the trees on our property they saved two bird nests. I found them nestled in the chrysanthemums. They appeared to be robins' nests. Those two mother robins are the "Birds of the Week."

I've noticed that the leaves are putting on a good show for the "leaf peepers" this year.

My brother, Steve McLain, got a call from Louis and Earlene Clough of Kennebunkport, this past weekend. They used to be his part-time neighbors until they sold their little place next door. They are doing well and just wanted to say hello and check in.

Steve and Lise McLain went to Lewiston to attend a concert by the Darts, a family gospel singing group. Their son, Stephen McLain, III is married to the Darts daughter. After the concert, they went to the Tin Tin Buffet in Auburn for dinner.

Hugh and I had a house full this past weekend. Hugh's brother, Bill Lord, and Merle White both of Phoenix, Ariz., were in town for Merle's 50th reunion at Gould Academy. They spent the week before visiting and fishing with Merle's brother, Ted White of Stratton. On Sunday, we were joined by Don and Gloria Fraser of Augusta, and Vernon and Arlene Fraser of Prince William, New Brunswick. Our son, Tim, and his daughter, Sidney, stopped by to visit. Sue and Keith Bartlett and Oscar Annis came from Bethel to catch up with everyone.

We had so many people that we ended up at the Town Hall. We were privileged to have a brief concert with Ted White on the guitar and Don Fraser playing the harmonica. Many years ago Ted had the chance to perform on the Grand Old Opry in Nashville, Tenn., and after listening to him, I can see why. I love country music and he played songs recorded by other artists, but did a couple of the original ones that he wrote.

Sunday evening there were nine of us that went to the Yokohama in Gorham, N.H., for dinner. Everyone headed home on Monday and the house is really quiet. It was a great weekend.

I would like to offer condolences to the family of Florian Corriveau. Florian lived in Gilead many years ago but lately he has been in a nursing home in South Paris. He was the brother of Fernand Corriveau and Jack Corriveau of Gilead.

Planning Board
Just a reminder that the Planning Board meets on Oct. 5 (tonight) at the Town Hall at 7 p.m. There will be an application submitted for the Peaked Hill Estates subdivision. They will also discuss the recommendation of a new alternative board member. Meeting is open to the public.

Selectmen's Meeting
The selectmen will meet on Oct. 11 at the Town Hall at 7 p.m. Some of the items on the agenda will be discussions on: the new alternative board member for the Planning Board, the Route 113 Scenic Byway and the new appendices for the Gilead General Assistance Ordinance. The meeting is open to the public, and as residents of Gilead your input is important.

The hummingbirds are gone; the chickadees, nuthatches, and titmice are gathering at the seed feeders; and fall color is at peak. I saw a flock of about 18 wild turkeys Saturday morning at the far end of Patte Brook Road, resplendent in iridescent plumage. If the rate of precipitation continues through the winter, with appropriately seasonal temperatures, we will have a goodly load of snow, for which skiers and snowmobilers will be thankful.

The big news this week is the Fryeburg Fair, which opened on Sunday. In spite of a mixed bag of weather, the biggest fair in Maine is always well attended and never disappoints those who attend. My friend Anne Gass and I set up our spinning equipment and finished products on Saturday morning, after which we joined in the cookout that is always provided for Museum workers. We are located in the loft of the Farm Museum, in case any of you would like to stop by.

The Pleasant Valley Grange has been busy setting up at the Fair, as well. A group went on Thursday to set up the Grange's agricultural display, and the Applins returned on Saturday morning with fresh veggies to spruce things up. Everyone's efforts yielded a second-place ribbon, a good reward, especially in light of the numbers of granges in competition.

Across the hall Barbara Mahler, Kathy DiGruttola, and Jane Hosterman put together the domestic/crafts display, which also garnered a second-place ribbon. I know how much work goes into both of these exhibits, and I want to say here, "Well done!"

On Monday morning the Sunday River Alpaca Farm hosted around 60 first graders from Crescent Park and Woodstock elementary schools. The children were separated into three groups which took turns at three different stations. Maureen Libby and Jen Campbell showed off the alpacas and chickens; Jane Hosterman and Mike Hoeh presided over the fish pond, both feeding and catching the fish; Yours Truly ly sat in the shop and demonstrated spinning and carding, and explained where clothing comes from.

The children were very well behaved and asked intelligent questions. Several expressed a wish to take home one of the stuffed animal alpacas, and I can't blame them — I'd love one myself. I expect the children will be buzzing for a while about their experience and the things they learned.

Last Thursday the Senior Players Readers' Theater group met for the first time this fall. We read through a couple of plays and had the opportunity to take different parts. One that we will almost certainly perform on Dec. 10 is "Sorry, Wrong Number," which was made into a movie starring Barbara Stanwyck back in the '40s. Any male members (or potential members) of Senior College are urged to join us. We need more men! We do have a good time and share a lot of laughs, and since we can carry our scripts with us, there's no pressure to memorize.

Mike is off to New Brunswick to fish the Miramichi River for Atlantic salmon for a few days. He is an avid fly fisherman, and last fall he caught his lifetime 50th salmon. The Atlantic salmon has been dubbed "the fish of 10,000 casts," for good reason. Therefore, landing fifty of them is quite an accomplishment.

The holiday weekend approaches, and the leaf peepers are everywhere. Let's hope the wind and rain don't take down the colorful display before all have had their fill. Do call or write with your news: 836-3011; dhoeh@megalink.net.

Last week my niece, Paulette, who now lives in California, along with my first wife, Mary, visited "big sister" Verna on their trip to do some leaf peeping in Maine. Friday, Verna fell and had to visit the emergency room to be checked out; there were no serious injuries, and she was sent home with a new cane and told to take it easy for a while. We were glad someone was there when the accident happened and that nothing more serious occurred.

Mona and I camped out at Crocker Pond campground for the weekend, but we had a nice visit with Paulette at Pat's Pizzeria on Friday evening. Oct. 1 turned out to be free National Forest Day, or something similar, so camping and parking were free that day. Our only other visitor was a moose who swam by during the night and a large barred owl that visited our neighbor's camp.

Last Thursday, Dwayne Ryerson stopped by to check on our progress in building the house for his daughter, Melanie. He was checking out the locations for the exterior light fixtures and was reminded of the outdoor motion light at his own home. He said his motion detector light is so sensitive, it comes on during the night whenever a car drives by on the road. When the light comes on, his neighbor's rooster thinks the sun is coming up and starts crowing and continues until the light goes off again. Good thing there isn't much traffic on his road at night!

One of the other fellows related that he and another guy had been somewhere together and stopped at a Dunkin' Donuts for coffee and a donut on their way home. As he entered, a young lady came to the counter picking her nose with one hand, scratching her butt with the other and asked, "Can I help you with something?" He replied, "No. I guess not." Then turned around and left!

Last week, I also received nine new Health Watch emergency responder units to replace old units now in service that depend on AA batteries for backup power. These are units that allow persons living alone to signal for help by pushing a button on a pendant or on the unit if they are unable to reach a telephone. The new units employ a speaker phone-like unit which allows the operator to converse with the patient, who may be located anywhere in his/her home. Those suckers are loud! By last Friday afternoon, Mona and I were able to switch six of the new units for old ones, and at no cost to the customer. The old units will be disposed of.

Hello Andover readers, what a simply perfect weekend we had. On Saturday afternoon we took in a football game at Mountain Valley Middle School in Rumford. On the team from Andover is Izaak Mills, seventh grade. Also on the team is Nick Sterling, eighth grade, grandson of Andover residents Carolyn and Richard Merrill. I think that half the towns of Rumford and Mexico were there.

Jane Rich attended the Maine County Commissioners annual conference, which this year was held at the Grand Summit at Sunday River. On Friday evening at the opening ceremony, Jane delivered the Invocation, and Andover resident Denise Hurd played the bagpipes. The color guard was the Oxford County sheriffs. Governor Baldacci was in attendance.

were Andover residents Paula Lee, Norma Farrington and her mother, Jean White.

Eleven members of the East Andover Community Club held their annual banquet on Sept. 11 at the River Valley Grill. Attending were Barbara Meisner, Violet Swain, Philena Chaisson, Margie Towne, Betty Moore, Sandy Wainwright, Kathleen Thew, Mary Bailey, Glenna Allen and Lorena Simmons. The October meeting will be held at Lorena Simmons' home.

The walls for the East Andover Fire House have been poured. The building is near the Post Office; this is a good place to drive out and see traffic coming either way.

Marge Stinson has moved back to Andover, after having lived in Bethel for a few months.

On Sunday, Sept. 10, Jason Glover, his wife, Belinda, and children, Bree and Calvin, visited with his parents, Harriet and Sylvanus Glover of East Andover. While there they moved all of the woodpile into the cellar, stacking every last piece. Also helping was their daughter, Wendy Hanson. Harriet said it was the most beautiful gift that they could receive.

Andover Historical Society will have an Open House on Oct. 7 from 1 to 3 p.m. at the Elm Street building next to the Town Hall. Refreshments will be served. They have several new items on display, including a leather backpack donated by Robert Newton with the initials E.R.N. engraved on the pack. It was the property of Emery R. Newton of Andover.

The society also has many items for sale. Get a start on your Christmas shopping! Christmas ornaments and tiles featuring the covered bridge and the band stand, mugs, tote bags, the Andover Coverlet, Bicentennial Cookbook, covered bridge puzzle, notepaper, magnets and calendars are some of the items available.

Attention Andover citizens who are enthusiastic, have a bit of spare time, and love our library! The trustees would like to inform you that we have an opening for a library trustee. Notices will be posted in area establishments and at the library for more information.

Happy birthday today to Cynthia Farrington, on the 22nd to Natasha Fifield, and on the 25th to Chad Jennings. Also, happy birthday on Sunday to Katie Mills.

Congratulations to John and Nancy Wight on a very special anniversary tomorrow, the 6th!

Windy Valleys Snowmobile Club needs help for trail work every weekend in October, both Saturdays and Sundays and Sundays only in November. FMI: call Leon Dunn at 824-3335. If you want to ride, please come and give a helping hand.

Last Saturday, I met a friend, Sy Horton from Owl's Head, who along with her sister, Jeannie from South Paris, and two cousins, Linda and Norma from Buckfield, drove up to Sunday River to do some leaf peeping. When they were ready to lunch they called me to join them at the Brew Pub. We had a nice visit together and parted company. They headed in to Bethel and did the walk by the Parkway, under the miniature covered bridge and across the foot bridge to Parsons' camping area and back. I told them if they had time they should go up Paradise Hill and see the view across from Nancy and Bob Chadbourne's home. Sy later relayed to me that it was the most spectacular view they had seen all that day. It is also one of my favorite views too.

The WVSC met Sunday evening at the Town Office. Lots was accomplished during the meeting. An agenda is being prepared as to trail work weekends and future events. When this is done, I will report the upcoming events.

During the coming weekend of Oct. 7 and 8 a Wellness Weekend at Mahoosuc, Route 26 in North Newry, will be held. Pre-registration is a must. Please call Polly Mahoney at 824-2073 if you would like to attend. There will be foot reflexology, massage therapy and archetypal storytelling. An Apache Holy Woman will give counseling or healing sessions. These women will be available for sessions throughout the weekend. If you wish to book an appointment, please call Polly at the above number or e-mail her at info@mahoosuc.com for more details. The weekend will start at 9 a.m. on Saturday and end at 5 p.m. on Sunday. For those attending there will be a potluck supper on Saturday at 6 p.m.

Puzzle Mountain Bakery has many tourists stopping for a look-see and purchase. This weekend should be a busy one as travelers like to stop and treat themselves.

It is also a busy weekend for doing yard work and preparing for winter. Just can't put things off too much longer.

South Woodstock

by Andrea Wing

Ingrid Twitchell, Woodstock, will be speaking at Woodstock Memorial Library on Thursday, Oct. 12, at 10 a.m. She will talk about raising sheep and different uses of the wool.

Congratulations to Tara Monzo of Oxford for making the dean's list at Western New England College for the spring 2006 semester. Tara is the daughter of Mike and Sandra Monzo and granddaughter of Tommy Poland of South Woodstock.

Alicia and Mike Gaylor of South Woodstock are the proud parents of twin baby boys born Sept. 21, 2006 at Maine Medical Hospital in Portland. Connor weighed 3 pounds, 10 ounces and Cole weighed 4 pounds, 7 ounces. They will be in the hospital for a while. Their mother, Alicia, is staying at the McDonald House in Portland to be near them.

A burial service was held Sept. 28 for Evelyn Dunn, who died earlier this year. Those attending were the minister, James Dunn, husband; Patrice Dunn, daughter; Ada Minyon, sister; Phelps and Joan Poland, brother and sister-in-law; Thomasina Poland, sister-in-law, and Andrea Wing, sister. It was a nice service and it was nice that her daughter could be here from California and sister-in-law could be here from Florida for the day.

Rick finally made it for a birthday supper. Ryan, our grandson, came the second time also. We had a good time as we do not get to see them often enough.

Kellie came up Saturday this week and did her laundry. She was babysitting Landon, as his mother, Jessie, was working. Landon did some tricks like pulling himself up to stand up. He's a bundle of energy and fun to watch.

Phelps and Joan have returned home from Florida where they have been visiting and helping their daughter, Joanna Southard, who recently moved from Missouri. Joanna had two small children, Molly and Kleet, who will miss their gramma and grandpa.

Quote of the week: "I've learned that it is no fun to watch television unless you have the remote control."

East Bethel

Jackie Libby had a Stampin' Party on Oct. 1 with several people present to see what stampin' is. It is a stamp with an ink pad to stamp designs on paper or other materials.

There will be a regular meeting at Alder River Grange on Oct. 13. This is an open meeting to the public for Seniors Plus to explain new changes to Plan D, the drug program. The meeting is at 7:30 p.m. for the public. There will be a potluck supper at 6:30 p.m.

The supper schedule for Alder River Grange is as follows: Oct. 21, Harvest Supper and Nov. 11, Turkey Supper. The suppers are at 5 p.m. and adults are $6 and under 13 are $3. The Nov. 11 supper is free to any veteran.

Have a nice week. God Bless the Troops.

West Paris

by Joyce Lamb

This coming week will bring in Fryeburg Fair.

The weather will be fine on Tuesday and Wednesday but the rest of the days are questionable. My plans are to go on Senior Citizens' Day and stay overnight with my two sisters-in-laws, Jeanne Whittemore of Norway and Elaine Blossom of North Branford, Conn., in Jeanne's RV. Then return home on Wednesday, late afternoon. I have done this for a few years and have had an enjoyable time.

I can see about everything in that length of time and also take in a few horse races. This is to be a fun time and no work, as there was at Oxford County Fair.

Nancy Willard will be guest speaker at the West Paris Universalist Church on Sunday, Oct. 8, at 9 a.m. Jim Burke is organist. Please join us for the service and social-coffee hour following.

Ingrid Twitchell of Woodstock will be the guest speaker at Whitman Memorial Library in Bryant Pond on Thursday, Oct. 12, at 10 a.m. She will be speaking on raising sheep and the different uses of the wool.

It is open to all at no charge. Light refreshments will be served.

Have a good time at Maine's biggest fair, for I plan to.

There is very little news from Buffy. He is getting back to being a real fluffy cat and his arthritis isn't bothering him as much. He appears to see somewhat for he gets around as usual.

It is time again to take care of those hazardous waste items that have been accumulating around the home and garage. Household hazardous waste can be dropped off at the SAD44 bus barn at the corner of Main Street and Cross Street in Bethel on Saturday, Oct. 7, between the hours of 9 a.m. and noon. This year you do not need to pre-register or have a voucher from your town. Hanover along with Newry, Bethel, Greenwood and Woodstock residents are eligible to use the drop site. Androscoggin Valley Council of Governments is coordinating the event. The week of Nov. 8 to 15 is "Maine Recycles Week."

The Hanover Town Office will be closed Oct. 17; the staff will be attending a Bureau of Motor Vehicles meeting at West Paris. At the Hanover Select Board meeting last Tuesday, the board appointed Darlene Baker to the Planning Board and Jeff Watts as an alternate to the Planning Board. The Select Board also went over budget items for the upcoming Town Meeting. Tentatively the Town Meeting will be Thursday, Oct. 26, at 6 p.m. at the Town House at 12 Howard tober. On Saturday, Oct. 7, many of the candidates will join Governor John Baldacci in the Fryeburg Fair Parade. The County Democrats are staffing the traditional Democratic Party booth throughout the fair in Expo 5.

On Oct. 12, there will be a fundraising dinner with music and dancing at the Rumford Eagles to benefit the campaign of Wayne Gallant for sheriff. The doors will open at 4 p.m. and there will be a ham dinner and music. Tickets are available at the door.

Donkey Tuesday will be held at the Locke Mills Legion on Oct. 17 with a lasagna dinner and silent auction, with the hall opening at 5 p.m. for socializing and dinner at 5:45. Maine Conservation Commissioner Pat McGowan will be a guest of honor at this event which will benefit the Oxford County Democrats.

The offices in Norway and Rumford are in full swing with volunteers staffing and working on a variety of projects. Those interested in staffing the office, helping with signs or get-out-the-vote activities may contact the offices at 364-3990 or 739-2451.

West Paris Public Library

The public is invited to join the trustees and friends of the Arthur L. Mann Memorial Library in West Paris to celebrate the "Little Castle's" first eighty years of dedicated service to the community.

This architectural gem, constructed of local fieldstones and crowned with fanciful crenellations, is on the National Register of Historic Places. It is a beloved West Paris landmark and routinely has many admirers, as well as many customers, walk through its massive oaken door.

BIRD'S EYE VIEW—Jeeps from the annual Maine Mountains Jeep Jamboree took to the streets of Bethel Saturday in their traditional parade. A sight-seeing chicken from Massachusetts recorded the sights along the way.

Well-wishers should come to the Open House at the library at 1 p.m. on Saturday, Oct. 14. The beautiful original drawings of the library by the Lewiston architectural firm Gibbs & Pulsifer will be on display. There will be opportunities to win prizes.

The Historical Society, which is across the street from the library, will also open its museum doors for visitors at 1 p.m. The Historical Society is hosting the second part of the anniversary celebration beginning at 2 p.m. For your enjoyment there will be music and speakers, including noted local historian Ben Conant, and well-known storyteller and perennial friend of the library, Joe Perham. The architect's drawings for the hoped-for addition, designed by Reed & Co. Architecture, and Mike Dean's beautiful miniature replica of the castle library, will both be displayed. You may purchase a $5 ticket for a chance to win this amazing miniature. The giving of prizes and visiting with friends over refreshments will complete the program.

The town of West Paris has actually had a library since the late 1800s, but at that time one paid a subscription fee of 25 cents to be entitled to borrow books. The growing collection moved at least six times before it was given a permanent home by the generosity of the Mann family. Lewis Mann gave the unique castle library to the town of West Paris on Oct. 4, 1926. His father, Edwin J. Mann, had bequeathed land and $5,000 to build a library for the town and Lewis is himself gave an equal sum to the project. In accordance with his father's wishes the library was named for his older brother, Arthur, who had predeceased their father. From the beginning it was a free public library, and it continues to proudly serve the citizens of West Paris as one of the many active contributors to community life.

The library is located on Main Street and there is ample parking behind the library in a new lot funded in part by a matching grant from the Maine Community Foundation. Part of the renovation and expansion plan, the lot can be accessed by Park Street and there is a walkway to the library.

Curiously, neither the library nor the Historical Society has any photographs of the library under construction. If any readers do have pictures of the library being built, the 80th Anniversary Committee would love to see them.

You may contact the library at 674-2004 for additional information about this celebratory event.

University College awarded six academic scholarships this fall. The Osher Scholarships were awarded to eligible Maine adults with a high school diploma or GED interested in "trying a college course." Several were graduates of the Oxford Hills Adult Education program and were recommended by their staff members.

Abbott also notes that several local high school students are attending introductory college classes through Maine's High School Aspirations Program. This money appropriated through the Maine State Legislature and the University of Maine System allows junior and senior high school students with a "B" average or above to enroll in college classes that will count for both college and high school credit.

According to Abbott, the center is a thriving and strong learning center. The next semester starts in January. Students interested in joining college classes in January can begin to start their planning now says Abbott. Pre-registration begins in November. Oxford Hills AARP

The Oxford Hills AARP group is participating in two great trips in December to get everyone in the holiday spirit.

The day trip for October to Salem, Mass., has been cancelled due to not enough sign-ups.

There are two trips planned for the holidays — Dec. 8 to see "The Radio City Christmas Spectacular" (the Rockettes at the Wang Center in Boston and "The Magic of Christmas" on Dec. 15 at the Merrill Auditorium in Portland. Each show will fill you with the holiday spirit.

The Boston trip is $97/pp — there are currently no seats available but we always have cancellations, so call to put your name on the waiting list. There will be shopping and lunch on your own at Quincy Market.

The Portland trip is $70/pp, which includes bus, lunch at the Old Country Buffet at the Maine Mall and the performance. There will be shopping in the morning, either at Maine Mall or the Christmas Tree Shoppe, and the performance will be in the afternoon. Final payment for The Magic of Christmas is Nov. 11; the deposit is $30/pp.

Please call Henrietta Taft to reserve your seat (743-6722) and then mail your deposit check to: Walter Taft, 1024 Gore Road, Otisfield, ME 04270. Assigned seating is in order of deposit received.

James J. Kiepper, author of "Styles Bridges: Yankee Senator," will be the featured speaker at the next lecture in the 2006 Series sponsored in part by a grant from the Maine Humanities Council on Oct. 12 in the meeting room of the Dr. Moses Mason House, beginning at 7:30 p.m.

Professor Kiepper will discuss the life and career of this remarkable politician, who played a major role in New Hampshire politics and in the U.S. Senate from 1937 until his death in 1961. H. Styles Bridges was born in West Pembroke, Maine in 1898, attended public schools, and was graduated from the University of Maine in 1918. Following graduation, he was an instructor at Sanderson Academy in Ashfield, Mass., for two years. He was a member of the Extension Service staff at the University of New Hampshire, 1922-23, then became editor of the Granite Monthly Magazine from 1924-26. Next he served as director and secretary of the New Hampshire Investment Company, and then became a lieutenant in the Army Reserve Corps. Following a four-year stint on the New Hampshire Public Service Commission, he was elected governor of New Hampshire in 1934, serving until 1936 when he was elected to the United States Senate, where he would remain until his death.

Early on in his Senate career, Bridges soon became one of the most powerful and at times controversial legislators of the era. While inherently conservative in politics, he always maintained good relations with both conservative and liberal (now moderate) wings of the Republican party. Democratic Majority Leader Lyndon Johnson had such respect for Bridges that he usually gave him what he wanted and rarely pressured him for his vote.

Professor Kiepper, who currently lives in Delmar, N.Y., grew up on a dairy farm in Hopkinton, N.H., and graduated from Hopkinton High School and New England College. He served as a college intern in European history at St. Paul's School Advanced Studies Program, followed by teaching at Columbia High School.

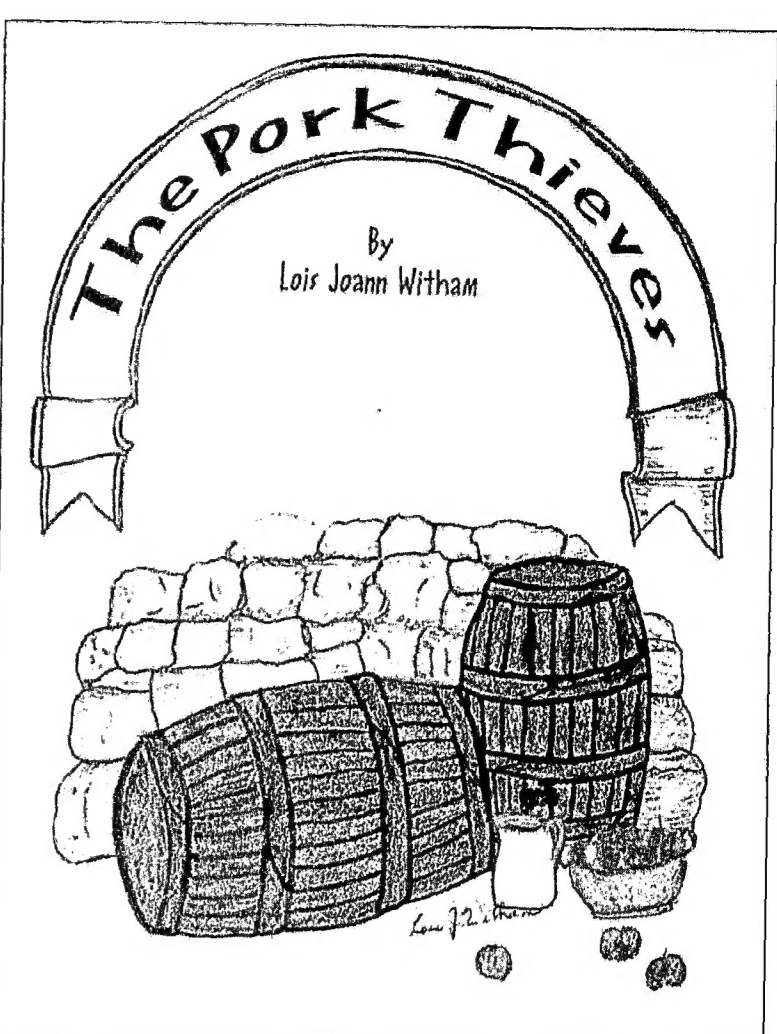

For thirty-five years, Professor Kiepper taught at the State University of New York at Albany during which he was also special assistant to Michigan Governor George Romney and to New York Governor nor Nelson Rockefeller in his campaign for the presidency in 1968. Kiepper also served on the 1969 mission to Latin America directed by Gov. Rockefeller. He has also edited the papers of Senator Bridges and those of New Hampshire U.S. Representatives Perkins Bass and James Cleveland. His biography of Styles Bridges was published in 2001.

The lecture is open to anyone interested, and those wanting an autographed copy of the biography may purchase it at a reduced price following the lecture. This 2006 Lecture Series honors the 40th anniversary of the Bethel Historical Society's founding in 1966.

With nearly 1,400 members, the Bethel Historical Society, founded in 1966, is western Maine's largest and most comprehensive full-time historical agency, dedicated to collecting, preserving, and interpreting the regional past for present and future generations. For forty years, the society's activities have included lectures, exhibits, special events, heritage festivals, workshops, conferences, school and educational programs, and publications. In 1974, the society acquired the former Broad Street residence of Dr. Moses Mason, which now contains a period house museum, exhibit hall and research library. In 1999, the society opened the O'Neil Robinson House (next door at 10 Broad Street) to the public for an expanded exhibit program, museum shop space, and administrative offices. Through the years, the society's achievements have been recognized by a number of state and national organizations.

First Burnham family reunion

By MELVIN BURNHAM

On Sept. 10 nearly eighty members of the Burnham family, extended family and friends attended the first Burnham Family Reunion at Stony Brook Recreation Center in Hanover.

This branch of the Burnham Family in America began with 12-year-old Thomas Burnham sailing with 100 other passengers, 23 seamen, 23 cows, and three sucking calves on the Angel Gabriel which ran aground at Pemaquid Point during a hurricane in 1635. Charles and Marjorie Thurston Burnham continued the family line when they married in 1934 raising four sons (Charles Edward, Rumford; David, Scarborough; Guy, Bethel; and Melvin, Skowhegan) in Hanover. Charles, Sr. passed away in 2000 and Marjorie now resides at the Ledgewood Living Center in West Paris.

The eldest Burnham member attending the reunion was Marjorie Lois Thurston Burnham who is 93. The youngest was Margeaux Burnham age 2 1/2, the daughter of Nathan and Rachelle Burnham of Deerfield, N.H. Those attending enjoyed lots of conversation, reminiscing, competing in a Burnham Family Trivia game, and a wonderful array of food including corn roasted on site over an open fire. Family members brought handcrafted items for a raffle. One item was a copy of a cookbook originally put together for publication by Charles and Marjorie Burnham in 1980. A family photo gallery was on display with photos dating back to the early 1900s, which brought back many great memories.

Special family guests included: Harmon and Maxine Thurston, Brandon, Vt.; Marlin Thurston, Peru; William and Jeanette Lamson, Norway; Verna Luke, East Boothbay; and Evelyn Stevens, Boothbay all siblings of Marjorie Thurston Burnham. Verna Luke celebrated her 90th birthday at the reunion.

Plans are being formulated for the next reunion in 2008.

Maine, to help the thousands of families caring for a loved one suffering from Alzheimer's Disease," states area coordinator Ellie Newell.

On that day, 14 walks will be held throughout Maine. The goal of the Alzheimer's Association is to raise $320,000. This money goes to help provide education, care and support to the more than 30,000 persons in this state afflicted with this disease. Nationally, Alzheimer's affects more than 4.5 million. The annual cost to our nation for this care exceeds $1 billion.

Anyone interested in helping with this project, whether it is by gathering sponsors and walking as an individual, forming a team of walkers from a workplace, donating door prizes to award to walkers or providing assistance on the day of the walk is encouraged to call the Maine Veterans' Home at 743-6300.

"We have a great time walking to raise money for this cause. We have families honoring their loved one who have suffered with the memory loss caused by Alzheimer's. Often they feel that taking just a little over an hour out of their day to do this walk can make a difference in what services are made available to other families coping with this problem. Come on out and join us," states Newell.

It's here! Residents at the Maine Veterans' Home in South Paris are enjoying the warm fall days by being outside just "putting" around on the new three-hole putting green.

The putting green became a reality after discussion during a Resident Council meeting. Several residents brought up the subject of having a putting green after going out on several golfing expeditions with the residential care unit activities assistant, Peter Kilgore. The residents have enjoyed their outings with Peter to Hebron Pines, and knew that there were other residents at the home who would like to play but weren't able to get out to a course as easily. The answer seemed to be to have a putting green built right at the home.

On their own time, maintenance workers Mo Morrisette, Paul Davis and Larry Austin designed and built a three-hole putting green, measuring 20 feet by 24 feet. It is walk-er and wheelchair accessible. Donations from the Oakdale Country Club in Rumford and Charlie McAllister, a resident in the community for the cups and flags helped to complete the project. A ribbon-cutting ceremony was held on Tuesday, Sept. 12, at the facility. Refreshments were served to residents and guests while golfers practiced their putting techniques.

From OHMPAA

"I can hear you singing, you know," said Gladys Cummings. "I listen to you at night from my swing. It is very enjoyable."

"You can," said Sally Jones, director of the musical comedy "Something's Afoot," the current Oxford Hills Music and Performing Art Association (OHMPAA) play in rehearsal at the Norway Grange. "I hope you come and see it. It is going to be good. It has an exciting cast, and it is so funny."

"Something's Afoot," a light-hearted musical, is an amusing but suspenseful satire of the old English murder mysteries by Sir Arthur Conan Doyle and Agatha Christie. It features plot twists, screams, storms, booby traps, and fiendish, but silly murders. The whodunit is a perennial favorite among community theaters in Maine, and OHMPAA is excited to bring it to the Oxford Hills.

"Something's Afoot" really has it all, mystery, fun, romance, music," said Jennifer St. Pierre, a popular OHMPAA performer who lights up the stage in any play that she is in. She plays Lady Grace Manley-Prowe, a member of the upper class who is destitute. "Knowing such a talented group of actors is a true blessing; getting to be on stage with them in a show like this is just an amazing experience," said St. Pierre.

The rest of the cast is a mixture of other favorite OHMPAA actors plus exciting newcomers. Altogether they form an ensemble that displays a gift for playing comedy and for producing a remarkable vocal sound.

"Cast a play with 10 actors and you are lucky if you get six singers; we have got 10," exclaimed musical director Kevin Smith at the end of the first rehearsal.

Returning to the stage is Alison Whitney, last seen in OHMPAA's memorable production of "Arsenic and Old Lace" in 2003. Considered the grande dame of the troupe, it is fitting that she plays Miss Tweed, the grande dame in "Something's Afoot." Miss Tweed is the amateur sleuth, who is always convinced that she has discovered the murderer only to be proven wrong, repeatedly. "After spending the better part of my reading life with mystery writers, it is fun to act it all out," said Whitney.

Performing in his third OHMPAA production is Mathew Delamater. He portrays the sinister nephew, Nigel, who wants to make sure that he is the heir to his uncle's fortune. "This show, for me, is like nothing I have ever done before because it forces me to work extremely hard to sound, look, and act completely natural, but at the same time, my character is the most ridiculous and silly person in the world."

A year ago this former OHCHS football captain discovered the stage, and to prepare for his role as Nigel, has been taking voice lessons. "The chemistry that is created when a group of people get together and take on the roles of such wonderfully rich and hilarious characters in a play like this is so amazing and to just be a part of it is exhilarating. I believe that the result will be something that the audience is really going to enjoy," said Delamater.

"He is a natural," said Jones, who has watched his growth from a small role to tackling the part of Nigel, his largest singing and dancing part to date.

Another natural is newcomer Kathryn Gardner who portrays Lettie, the saucy maid. Not only does Gardner's role require her to act, sing and dance, which she does with skill, but also she must use athletic skills not required of any other cast member.

"Sure I can do it," she says, as the move is described to her. The audience will be delighted when they see her execute this tricky piece of stage movement.

Tom Littlefield plays Flint, the lecherous cockney handyman, and Steve Session portrays the dignified, but slightly addled, Dr. Grayburn. These two men have performed in countless OHMPAA productions, but besides that, they do everything else. Littlefield directs plays and serves on the OHMPAA board. Together they build the clever sets that designer Claire Sessions creates for most OHMPAA shows. Both Sessions commute from Andover.

"All three are irreplaceable," said Jones "and so much fun to be around."

Long-time and well-liked OHMPAA performer Michael Davis plays Clive, a most proper butler. Mike has come up with a spectacularly absurd death in Act I.

"Something's Afoot" seems light and breezy, but it is a subtle and sneaky show," said Davis. "For instance, the musical numbers reveal the characters so directly, without interrupting the action, that you do not notice how sophisticated the music really is, unless you are trying to sing it. We are having a ball at rehearsals."

Josh Twitchell, a college student, takes his first OHMPAA leading role as the college student, Geoffrey, and the uninvited guest who makes a big mistake when he swims to the island after his rowing team overturns in the lake. Sparks fly immediately when he becomes involved in a rather heated relationship with the young romantic, Hope, which is another leading role, played by newcomer Jessica Church. Church and Twitchell have outstanding, well-trained voices that are showcased in their solos and duets.

"And they can dance," said Erin Houle, choreographer. "All these actors are such a great group to work with. Rehearsals are filled with so much energy and so much fun."

A regular performer in southern Maine companies, Tom Ferent, who commutes from Naples to perform in his first OHMPAA show, is having fun with his character, the straight-laced Colonel, whose secret and somewhat shady past is revealed in a hilarious scene with Lady Grace Manley-Prowe.

"Something's Afoot," book, music, and lyrics by James McDonald, David Vos and Robert Gerblach with additional music by Ed Linderman, is presented with special arrangements with Samuel French, Inc. It performs on Nov. 9, 10, 11, 16, 17, and 18 at 8 p.m., and at 2 p.m. on Nov. 12 and 19 at the Norway Grange on Whitman Street in Norway. Watch for tickets that will go on sale in early October at Books 'N Things on Main Street, Norway (739-6200).

Region 9 School of Applied Technology

Proposed Renovation / Addition Project Informational Presentation

Wednesday, October 11, 2006 6:30 PM
Mountain Valley Middle School Auditorium.

This meeting is being held to provide school administrators, school board members, municipal officials and other members of the Region 9 community with important information regarding this proposed project including how it is to be funded and how it may affect individual communities.

Residents of the towns served by Region 9 are encouraged to attend.

This project proposal will be presented to the public as a special referendum question in January.

SCHOOL NEWS FROM AROUND THE DISTRICT

Students in Judy Coolidge's Grade Two Classroom at Crescent Park have been studying butterflies as part of their science studies. Here, Avry Griffin is transferring a Monarch butterfly to Zoe Bean, while classmates Mallory Corriveau and Alice Pelletier look on. The students had 4 butterflies come out of their chrysalis in the last two days and they released them for their migration.

Kindergarten students in Mrs. Sabin's classroom at CPS are practicing fine motor skills as they draw and write on individual marker boards. These boards are part of each child's carpet box. The boxes also contain clipboards for shared writing, a sock to erase marker board work, and writing utensils.

CPS kindergarteners Addison Rafford and Victoria Hamel are shown interpreting a class graph on everyone's favorite planet. Students have also created pie chart graphs and pictographs in math class.

Fourth and fifth grade students at CPS each have a subscription to "Time Kids", a junior version of the weekly news magazine. Teachers use this publication to teach their students about current events. As a follow up activity to reading the articles in the 9/15 edition, students in Mrs. Charette's class emailed the editor with their thoughts on different stories. This week the students were pleasantly surprised to open "Time for Kids" and see that their classmate Walker Alford's letter had been published in the "Dear TFK," column. Mrs. Charette's students plan to continue reading the articles each week and emailing the editor to see if any more of their letters will get published throughout the year.

Woodstock Elementary School proudly displays its Family Tree in the front entryway. Every student and staff member at the school has their picture on the tree.

Telstar High School's Lance Brown finishes a recent cross-country race held at Telstar. Brown was the top Rebel finisher for the boys in seventh place.

Sports

High School Boys' Varsity Soccer

Telstar 7, Mt. Abram 1; Sept. 30—Telstar's Frankie Delduca had two goals and Louis Thornton, Eric Schwarz, Mike Fleet, Max Meader and Andy Whitney one in a win over Mt. Abram. Meader had an assist. Kevin Gallagher had six saves in goal.

Gould varsity 2, Alumni 1; Sept. 30—Both teams moved the ball well and had several opportunities to score in the first half. Goalie Spencer Ordway '86 made two great saves for the Alumni in the first half. The Alumni opened the scoring in the 49th minute with a goal by Josh Gray '01, assisted by Miles Spadone '06. T.L. Tutor tied the game in the 62nd minute after receiving a nice pass from Kevin Dawson. Leon Maierhofer scored the winning goal off a rebound in the 88th minute of play.

Telstar 4, Carrabec 1; Sept. 27—Telstar's Louis Thornton had two goals and Max Meader and Frankie Delduca one each in a win over Carrabec. Each also had an assist, as did Matt Zinchuk. Kevin Gallagher had nine saves in goal.

Gould 7, Carrabasset Valley Academy 1; Sept. 27—Gould's T.L. Tutor scored his first of two goals after a nice pass from Fabian Suessenguth in the second minute. Fabian then followed his assist with a goal of his own. T.L. also had one assist and created several scoring opportunities throughout the game. The other goal scorers were Won Gu Kim, Ji-Ho Ha, Madison Lamar, and Jake Shifrin. Madison Lamar also had two assists in the game. Max Zotz and Ben Milner played well in goal.

High School Boys' J.V. Soccer

Hebron 2, Gould 1; Sept. 27—Although Gould lost 2-1, the JV B boys put in a great effort, showing hustle and tenacity. Hyung Jun Lee scored Gould's one goal with a powerful shot on the net, created as a result of great teamwork moving down the field.

High School Girls' Soccer

Hebron 4, Gould 1; Sept. 27—Gould scored in the first 40 seconds when Brittany Rogers took a well-placed ball from Hannah Cowan and put it into the net. Gould had nine shots on goal. Of Hebron's 22 shots on goal, Gould's Rebecca Finn had six saves and Molly Spadone nine.

Gould 4, Hyde 4; Sept. 27—Gould's Brittany Rogers had an outstanding game, scoring all four goals for Gould. Jackie Reis and Brittany Riley played notably well on the defensive line. Molly Spadone had 14 saves in goal in the first half, and Rebecca Finn had nine in the second half.

High School Varsity Field Hockey

Telstar 2, Livermore Falls 1; Oct. 2—Telstar's Whitney Mills scored both goals as the Rebels beat previously undefeated Livermore. Bailey Davis and Caiti Shimamura each had an assist. Brianna Douglass had 20 saves in goal.

Telstar 3, Winthrop 1; Sept. 27—Telstar's Julia Stambolis, Chelsea Bean and Josie Riess had goals in a win over Winthrop. Whitney Mills had two assists, and Brianna Douglass had five saves in goal.

Hebron 3, Gould 2; Sept. 27—Hebron scored first but Gould came back two minutes later on a rushed shot by Nelle Reid. Hebron then added one more at the end of the half. Gould once again tied the game on a penalty corner shot by Hillary Hough. Both teams played hard, and Hebron had a breakaway late in the second half to score the winning goal. Nicole Gaidis had a great game in goal with nine saves. With only seconds on the clock Gould had one last opportunity to tie the game, but the Hebron goalie made an impressive save.

High School J.V. Field Hockey

Winthrop 2, Telstar 0; Sept. 27—An undefeated Winthrop team shut out the Rebels in a tough loss. Despite dropping their record to 7-2, the JV girls played well as a team. Liz Meisner and Desirae Cox played well on the defensive end of the field.

High School Boys' Cross-country

Wiscasset 23, Telstar 51, Madison 54, Dirigo no score; Sept. 27—Winning time: 15:36. Telstar finishers: 2. Lance Brown (15:41); 7. Evan Fessenden (16:24); 12. John Lewis (17:26); 16. Matt Lauro (18:20); 19. Will Chapman (19:29).

TMS J.V. Soccer

Telstar 2, Mt. Valley 0; Sept. 26—TMS had goals by Eric Roy and Jeremy Putnam, with one assist by Jacob Wakefield. Justin Smith made one save on one shot. The team played very aggressively, had many shots on goal, passed extremely well, and played their best defense of the year. — coach Mark Kenney

TMS Varsity Soccer

Telstar 2, Mt. Valley 0; Sept. 26—Telstar's Tyler Brown and Doug Gardner scored and Danny Whitney and Jeb Clarke both had assists. Shut out in goal by Daniel Vaughn. Great game by all. — coach Mark Kenney

TMS Varsity Field Hockey

Telstar 3, Mountain Valley, 3; Sept. 26—It was a tough game and all players did a fantastic job. Telstar goals were scored by Jamie Steven, Katie Sumner, and a combination of Hannah Morin and Katie Sumner. Hannah Morin and Jamie Steven had assists. Sweeps Meghan Costello and Lyndsay Merrill made crucial clear outs of the circle throughout the game. Sam Tibbetts had several saves in goal. — coach Lori Davis

TMS J.V. Field Hockey

Mt. Valley 1, Telstar 0; Sept. 26—The Rebels played a great game against Mt. Valley in a 1-0 loss. The Rebels put up a good fight throughout the whole game. Jesse Henley, Morgan Wilson, and Megan LaCroix played aggressive offense. Both Tabby Coriveau and Carlee Beatson defended the goal cage well with several saves. — coach Lori Davis

Youth Football

Third and Fourth Grade; Turner 18, Greenwood 0; Sept. 24—The Spartans' defense continues to improve but they're still looking for the offensive spark to ignite the team to their first victory. Dave Pilgrim, Kevin Goodrich, Zack Wheeler, and Noah Rose all handed in solid performances defensively. Offensively, Rose and Nick Johnson each had a nice run and Jordan Pilgrim and Carl Brooks stood out on the offensive line with some great blocking. Coach Jim Rose said the team showed much greater intensity this week. Last year's team lost their first four games before winning their last two.

Fifth and Sixth Grade; Turner 22, Greenwood 8; Sept. 24—A well-disciplined Turner team scored twice in the first quarter and held on to the lead. Turner's defense stifled the Spartans running game but QB Dominic Haines exploited a weakness in the second quarter by connecting over the middle with Nick Mills for a 50-yard touchdown. Josef Holt made the conversion. Turner came right back and scored before the Spartans' defense made an adjustment effectively shutting down Turner for the rest of the game. However, the Spartans' attempt at a comeback was greatly diminished when, with seconds left in the half, Haines got injured forcing him out of the remainder of the game and taking the passing attack with him. Mills, Holt, and Bronson Dean all made some nice runs and the whole team played well defensively. The Spartans are the first team this season to score against the Titans, who could very well be the strongest team in the league. — coach Andy Wheeler

Arthur L. Mann Memorial Library Celebrates 80th Year with Open House & Festivities in West Paris on October 14

The public is invited to join the Trustees and Friends of the Arthur L. Mann Memorial Library in West Paris to celebrate the "little castle's" first eighty years of dedicated service to the community. This architectural gem, constructed of local fieldstones and crowned with fanciful crenellations, is on the National Register of Historic Places. It is a beloved West Paris landmark and routinely has many admirers, as well as many customers, walk through its massive oaken door.

Well-wishers should come to the Open House at the library at 1 o'clock on Saturday, October 14. The beautiful original drawings of the library by the Lewiston architectural firm Gibbs & Pulsifer will be on display.

There will be opportunities to win prizes! The Historical Society, which is across the street from the library, will also open its museum doors for visitors at 1 o'clock. The Historical Society is hosting the second part of the anniversary celebration beginning at 2 o'clock. For your enjoyment there will be music & speakers, including noted local historian Ben Conant, and well-known storyteller and perennial friend of the library, Joe Perham. The architect's drawings for the hopes for addition, designed by Reed & Co. Architecture, and Mike Dean's beautiful miniature replica of the castle library, will both be displayed. You may purchase a $5 ticket for a chance to win this amazing miniature. The giving of prizes and visiting with friends over refreshments will complete the program.

The library is located on Main Street and there is ample parking behind the library in a new lot funded in part by a matching grant from the Maine Community Foundation. Part of the renovation and expansion plan, the lot can be accessed by Park Street and there is a walkway to the library.

You may contact the library at 674-2004 for additional information about this celebratory event.

Friday, Saturday, Sunday, October 13-15

It's always wise to call ahead

Listings in The Citizen's weekly Community Calendar are compiled from a wide variety of sources. While we do our utmost to ensure the reliability of the information presented here, we recognize that when dealing with such a large volume of material, some inaccuracies will occasionally creep in. And in other cases, a sponsoring organization's plans may change between the time The Citizen is printed and the event is held. Accordingly, we strongly urge our readers to call ahead to verify the details of any event they plan to attend. Doing so will greatly reduce the chance of disappointment or needless inconvenience.

Obituaries

KEITH B. WILSON

Keith B. Wilson, 56, of West Paris, died Monday, Oct. 2, 2006 at Stephens Memorial Hospital, Norway.

He was born in Portland on March 14, 1950, the son of Leland and Betsey Cummings Wilson. He attended school in Lovell and graduated from Fryeburg Academy. He faithfully served his country in the U.S. Air Force.

He had owned and operated a landscaping business. He married Pauline Lebel on June 13, 1999. He enjoyed hunting, fishing, gardening and football.

He is survived by his wife of West Paris; a daughter, Renee Wilson of New Jersey; a stepdaughter, Rebecca Cole, and her companion Dennis Boutellier of Dexter; a stepson, Jason Timberlake of Jacksonville, Fla.; a brother, Kurt Wilson and his wife Virginia of Oxford; three sisters, Dawn Wilson and her companion Gerald Higgins of Norway, Bonnie Tielonen and her husband Eric and Vivian Stone and her husband David, all of Oxford; grandchildren, Melissa, Matthew, Makayla, Braiden and Domenic; and a great-grandchild, Maddison.

Funeral services will be held on Friday, Oct. 6, at 1 p.m. at Weston-Chandler Funeral Home, 45 Main Street, South Paris. Family and friends may call at the funeral home on Thursday from 6 to 8 p.m. Online condolences may be shared with the family at www.westonchandler.com.

FRANCES E. DUNN

Frances E. (Lane) Dunn, 96, of Damariscotta, died Sept. 26, 2006 at Cove's Edge Long-Term Care facility.

Mrs. Dunn was born Oct. 26, 1909, in Upton, the first child of the late Ellis H. and Martha M. (Littlehale) Lane. She was the widow of the late George H. Dunn.

Her family moved to Errol,

N.H., when Frances was 4 years old. There they opened a General Store near the headwaters of the Androscoggin River. Frances grew up and received her first formal education in Errol. She graduated from Gould Academy in 1926 and went on to attend classes at Plymouth Normal School in New Hampshire for a short period, dropping out when she realized she was teaching more than she was learning. After a couple of years away from college to study hairdressing in Boston with her sister Margaret, she entered the University of New Hampshire in 1928 and graduated in 1932 with a BS degree in Liberal Arts. Her first teaching job was in a one-room school in Newry. At that stage of the Depression, the powers that be were giving all teaching jobs to men supporting families and she lost her job after only one year. Frances returned to Errol and started gardening which led to her interest in the Physical Culture Society and developed into her interest in whole and organic foods.

On April 30, 1938 Frances married George Dunn of Andover, where they established residence and raised their family. In 1955 Frances returned to teaching at Orr's Island. Subsequently she taught middle school and high school math at schools in Dixfield and Litchfield, and Farmington and Franklin, N.H., before retiring in 1971.

George and Frances moved to Patten, to create their retirement paradise. After George died in 1975, Frances continued the dream in Patten for several years, before moving closer to her daughter Mary in Edgecomb, and later lived in Round Pond and Damariscotta.

A son, Howard G.; her husband, George H. Dunn; a sister, Margaret Hawkins; a brother, Clifford; and a foster brother, Everett Eames predeceased Frances. She is survived by a sister, Martha Bennett of Lovell; son, Thomas Dunn of Orange Park, Fla.; daughter, Mary (Mimi) Dunn and husband Ronald Shapiro of Portland; son, William Dunn and wife Laura of Litchfield, Conn.; and daughter, Sarah Latham and husband James of Barnesville, Ohio; nine grandsons, and one granddaughter; two great-grandsons, and five great-granddaughters.

Remembrance arrangements are an interim service at 1 p.m. Saturday, Oct. 21, at Woodlawn Cemetery in Andover, followed by a celebration of Frances' life at the Andover Congregational Church. Her family feels an appropriate tribute to Frances would be a contribution to the Andover Educational Fund, Inc. P.O. Box 32, Andover, ME 04216.

ETHEL ANN MANN

Ethel Ann Mann, 86, of South Yarmouth, Mass., passed away on Sept. 26, 2006. She was an artist, homemaker and mentor.

Ethel lived most of her life in Lunenburg, Mass. Married to James A. Mann for over 55 years, she was accomplished in weaving, oils and watercolors. Her favorite subjects were flowers, which she made appear to grow on the canvas.

She was the mother of Barbara M. Hawkins of Centerville, Mass., James Mann of Bethel, and Peter A. Mann of South Yarmouth.

She leaves behind her brother, Frank Esser of Troy, N.Y., and Eli Mann of Bethel, as one of six grandchildren.

Funeral services were held in South Yarmouth, Mass., on Oct. 1. Gifts in her memory may be made to the Bethel Historical Society, P.O. Box 12, Bethel, ME 04217.

REAL ESTATE AND YOU
EXPERIENCE: KEY TO PROFESSIONAL SERVICE

Knowledge and experience are what competent Realtors offer homeowners when they are retained to handle the marketing and sale of homes. Experience is the key word, as the most valuable knowledge is obtained in handling a wide variety of situations encountered in the home selling process.

It's particularly important for owners to seek out a thoroughly seasoned Realtor in today's market. There are more recently licensed Realtors and sales associates vying for business from home sellers and buyers than ever before. The National Association of Realtors recently announced they have a million members - an all-time record high number. Many of the new members are hard working folks, but they are still in the learning stage of their career. Smart consumers seek out a Realtor who is past this stage. They want a Realtor with enough experience to be a competent professional.

When it comes to handling a family's biggest financial transaction, homeowners need and deserve a Realtor with a solid background of success-proven experience. Home sales transactions are more complex today than in past years. New laws and regulations must be observed if a smooth transaction is to be consummated and after-sale risks minimized. That calls for professional guidance.

For professional advice on all aspects of buying or selling real estate, contact Cindy Hiebert at Mahoosuc Realty, 207-824-2771

Obituaries

ARIC JASON BEANE

Aric Jason Beane, 33, of Anchorage, Alaska died Sept. 15, 2006 in a plane crash on the edge of Denali National Park and Preserve.

He was born Jan. 15, 1973, in Farmington. He graduated from Mountain Valley High School in Rumford in 1991. He graduated from Vermont Technical College in 1994, with a degree in civil technology. He married Crystal Chase Beane on Dec. 21, 1996.

His family wrote: "In 1997, Aric and Crystal moved to Anchorage to live Aric's dream." Aric was presently working with CRW Engineering Group in Anchorage as a civil designer.

He was an avid outdoorsman. He loved spending time with his wife and daughter, Kaylea. He enjoyed sharing his Alaskan lifestyle with both friends and family. His daughter was daddy's little girl and the sparkle in his eyes.

He and family spent almost every summer weekend fishing, rafting and camping. He looked forward to his yearly hunting trip with buddy Alex Stack. He also enjoyed the Alaskan winter by spending his time snowmachining and most recently teaching his daughter how to ski.

He is survived by his wife, Crystal; daughter, Kaylea Rhae; mother, Irene Beane of Fairfax, Va.; father, Albert Beane of Rumford; siblings, Allison and Brian Benner, of Woodbridge, Va., and Monica and Richard Sylvia of Springfield, Va.; grandparents, Frances Baillargeon of Milford and William Beane of Skowhegan; several in-laws, nieces and nephews, mostly from Maine; and many good friends. He was predeceased by his grandparents, Adrian Baillargeon and Alice Beane.

A celebration of his life was held at Hangar No. 4, 60500 Carl Brady Drive. In lieu of flowers, memorial donations may be made to the Aric Beane memorial fund, Alaska USA Federal Credit Union, P.O. Box 196613, Anchorage 99519-6613, or www.alaskausa.org.

FLORIAN P. CORRIVEAU

Florian P. Corriveau, 71, formerly of Gilead, died Sunday evening, Oct. 1, 2006 at Market Square Health Care Center, South Paris.

He was born in St. Albert, Canada, on Aug. 17, 1935 the son of Darie and Octavie Corriveau Corriveau. He attended school in Gilead and worked on the family farm.

He was a member of Our Lady of the Snow Church in Bethel.

Florian enjoyed raising animals, his rabbits, chickens and his dog, Beauty. He also enjoyed gardening.

Due to his health he lived in homes in Portland and Windham before entering Market Square Health Care where he loved the staff.

Survivors include four brothers, Yvon of Gilead, Denis of Canton, Lauriat of Greenwood and Fernand of Gilead; two sisters, Jeannette Marr of Rumford and Muriel Couillard of St. Marcel, Quebec, Canada; and many nieces and nephews. Florian was predeceased by six brothers, Leo, Jean-Paul, Yves, Yvenho, Rosaire and Roger; and two sisters, Maryann Dupont and Louise Caron.

A mass of Christian Burial was celebrated Wednesday,

Oct. 4, at Our Lady of the Snow Church, Bethel. Interment followed at St. John Cemetery, Rumford. In lieu of flowers those who wish may make memorial gifts in his memory to Market Square Health Care Center, South Paris, ME 04281.

ELSIE W. HAYNES

Elsie W. (Blackburne) Haynes, 90, formerly of Columbia and Windsor, Conn., died Sunday, Oct. 1, 2006.

She was born Dec. 15, 1915, in Brooklyn, N.Y. She was the daughter of the late Willard L. Blackburne and Anna B. Henrichon, also her stepfather, Arthur E. Henrichon.

In her younger years she was involved in the Girl Scouts and 4-H as a leader.

During World War II, she belonged to the Red Cross Motor Corps of Windsor, Conn., and worked thousands of hours out of Bradley Field, Windsor Locks, Conn., with the soldiers.

She was on the original Windsor Police Force as the first policewoman of the town of Windsor.

She attended the Congregational Church of both Columbia and Windsor, the Baptist Church in West Paris, where she resided in the summer, and the Methodist Church of Venice Fla., where she resided in the winter.

She retired from Pratt & Whitney Aircraft, East Hartford, Conn., in 1970.

Her activities were many. She was a member of the Windsor Grange, and the West Paris Grange, West Paris Senior Citizens group, the Red Hat Socialites of Sandalwood, Venice, Fla., and American Legion Auxiliary Unit 0151 of West Paris.

She was a member of the Order of the Eastern Star, a Past Royal Matron of Charity Court of the Amaranth, Windsor Locks from 1955 to 1964, a Past Grand Royal Matron of the Grand Court of the Order of the Amaranth from 1970 to 1971, and Past Supreme Royal Matron of Order of the Amaranth. She was a member of abuse organizations for over 60 years.

She is survived by a daughter, Patricia A. H. Breame and her husband Fred of Woodstock; two sons, Robert B. Haynes and his wife Judith from Arizona and California, Donald A. Haynes and his companion Polly of New Hampshire; grandchildren, Lori Ann Annati and her husband Rick, Sandra Caliri and her husband Robert, Larry Lane and his wife Maureen, Karley H. Wells and her husband Mike, Michael Haynes and his wife Amanda, and Shannon Haynes and her husband Aron D'Advila; nine great-grandchildren; her friend, Maureen Haynes; two sisters, Dorothy B. Seam of Windsor and Anna H. King of New Hampshire; and many nieces and nephews. She was predeceased by her husband of 54 1/2 years, Laurence A. Haynes, who died in 1991; a sister, Mildred B. Davis; and also a niece, Dorothy Yeramian.

Funeral services will be held Thursday, Oct. 5, at 11 a.m. in the chapel at the Carmon Windsor Funeral Home, 807 Bloomfield Avenue, Windsor, Conn. Burial will follow in Riverside Cemetery, East Street, Windsor, Conn. Please visit www.carmonfuneralhome.com for our online guest book and directions. In lieu of flowers, contributions may be made to Hospice House of Androscoggin Home Care and Hospice, P.O. Box 819, Lewiston, ME 04240-0819 or to the Amaranth Diabetic Foundation, c/o Ruth Knittle, 51 Essex Court, Meriden, CT 07450-8141.
